

We are looking for community champions to work with us (Cardiff University) on a new study !

The TIC-TOC study involves a public campaign to raise awareness of vague cancer symptoms and support people to seek advice from their GP. TIC-TOC is funded by Cancer Research Wales.

We want community champions to help us distribute information about the TIC-TOC campaign to people living in Cwm Taf Morgannwg University Health Board area.

The key duties of the role are:

- Share campaign materials to people in the local community (e.g. posters/leaflets).
- Host events in the community and online
- Working together with the study team

We are looking for people who are:

- Based in the Cwm Taf Morgannwg University Health Board area (Rhondda; Taff Ely; Merthyr; Cynon).
- Connected with or are willing to link with a range of social groups, organisations and clubs in this area.
- Enthusiastic, approachable and who like meeting new people.
- Feel able to approach people to talk about cancer (you will be trained to do this).
- Have access to and use a computer (some events may need to be held online due to COVID-19 restrictions).
- Self-motivated.

The use of a car is also essential for this role, and all reasonable travel expenses will be paid.

It may also be beneficial to the role if you can speak Welsh as well as English (this is not essential).

Training for the role, campaign materials, and any Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) will be provided.

This is a voluntary role but you will receive a small reimbursement for your time. The role will be for eight hours a week for a total of about 3 months.

For more information or to apply contact Gwenllian Moody (moodyg@cardiff.ac.uk) telling us why you are interested and what you can bring to this role.

If we think you might be suitable you will be invited for an informal interview (over the phone or online).
